

FRASER BACK?

GAVIN Fraser, who missed Tuesday's win over Staines, could be back in midfield for Wycombe Wanderers when they take on improved Hitchin at Loakes Park tomorrow (Saturday). Fraser has been out of action with a septic toe.

The news of Wycombe's other casualties, however, is grim. Tony Horseman, Paul Birdseye and John Maskell are all out of action which means manager Ted Powell will be relying mainly on the team that beat Staines. Tony Price is also unfit at the moment.

Facing Wycombe will be a Hitchin side full of confidence. They are currently third in the table with five victories under their belts. They have made several new signings this season, amongst them Peter Watson and Kevin Mulkern from Bishop's Stortford.
